

1. This Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter of this case, and there is good cause to believe it will have jurisdiction over the parties.

2. Venue lies properly with this Court.

3. There is good cause to believe that Defendants Coulomb Media, Inc. (“Coulomb Media”), and Cody Low aka Joe Brooks (“Low”), have engaged in, and are likely to engage in the future in, acts and practices that violate Sections 5(a) and 12 of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. §§ 45(a), 52, and that the Commission is therefore likely to prevail on the merits of this action.

4. There is good cause to believe that immediate and irreparable damage to the Court’s ability to grant effective final relief for consumers in the form of monetary restitution will occur from the sale, transfer, assignment, or other disposition or concealment by Defendants of their Assets or records unless Defendants Coulomb Media and Low are immediately restrained and enjoined by order of this Court. Therefore, there is good cause for the entry of the ancillary relief contained in this Order, including an order preserving Defendant’s Assets and prohibiting the Defendants from destroying records.

5. Weighing the equities and considering the Commission’s likelihood of ultimate success, this Temporary Restraining Order is in the public interest.

6. No security is required of any agency of the United States for the issuance of a temporary restraining order. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 65(c).
